n Example Of Competition . . .

We've been told that the theme for Oil Progress eek this year is competition: more specifically, how industry competition serves us as consumers. It is a ticularly appropriate theme, for the U.S. oil indusis one of the best examples we have of competition service inspiring each other onward constantlyad all for the betterment of the general public.

All too often, the oil industry is thought of as a oup of perhaps a dozen or more companies. The Oil dustry Information Committee knocked this myth the head not too long ago by making an actual and of the number of businesses engaged in petroum; and it used only accredited government figures r its tallying. This count showed there were more an 42,000 oil companies, ranging all the way from meman firms to multi-million dollar organizations. hat there are so many of them is proof in itself of the mpetitive nature of oil, for how could it be otherwise this land of ours, where any enterprising man or ompany can set up shop and challenge the field?

As to the service, what better example can we cite As to the service, what better example can we cite as the service stations and fuel oil jobbers who take are of our cars and our home-heating requirements? are of our cars and our home-heating requirements? ervice stations in particular do an outstanding job, or addition to filling our tanks and handling lubricaon jobs, the busy attendants wipe our windshields, heck our tires and batteries, make minor mechanical justments, give us reports on highway and route conitions, free road maps, and innumerable other things all with a smile ,because it's part of the job to keep head of the competition.

The same holds true for the fuel oil distributors. Many use the "degree-day" system to keep our tanks lled, so that we never have to worry about this. Deveries are made night and day, good weather or bad. and if the burner breaks down, the service man comes unning to have it fixed in a jiffy. That's competition nd service working together — and we are happy to alute this industry and its employees for living up to be spirit of Oil Progress Week, not only this week but and

ONE OUT OF TEN!

One out of every ten paychecks handed out in Michigan is paid by Motor Transport — did you know that? And the average annual wage it pays is about 25% higher than the average for all other industries.

That gives you some idea of how big and important the trucking industry is in this State.

Everything you eat, wear, or use travels at least part of the way to you in trucks and trailers. And besides this, the trucking industry is a major iob producer for your State!

Dawson's We're out to make a Record

We're shooting for the biggest October in Buick history and we're willing to go all out to make it.

Right now, Buick is outselling every other car in the nation-regardless of price class-except two of the so-called "low-priced three."

So you know that it has the combination of horsepower-room-comfort-performance-and styling too good to miss.

And it isn't hard for you to figure out that Buick dealers must be offering the kind of prices and tradeins that the public goes for-because you can't make record sales these days unless you have everything it takes to make a winning combination.

Come in and see us, and you'll know what we mean.
